Han Luis Cera joins Wharfedale Pro

Wharfedale Pro welcome Han Luis Cera to their International "Application and Solutions" team. Based in the UK, Han joins as "Application and Solutions Manager" strengthening the Wharfedale Pro International team. Han has extensive experience as a live sound engineer, primarily FOH and monitor engineering, as well as being the module leader in both digital production implementation and advanced mixing techniques. He is also a successful musician, composer and producer, whose work was featured in various BBC nature documentaries.

Danny Clarke, Sales Director at Wharfedale Pro, had the following to say about Han's arrival: "Han's extensive knowledge will be a valuable asset for us here at Wharfedale Pro. He will be joining Marko and Marci within the Application and Solutions team, strengthening our global support for all our customers. It's a pleasure to have him on board."
