

LIVEBOX at HIGH END 2026

At HIGH END 2026 in Vienna, Austria, LIVEBOX will present its exceptional one-box sound experience on Level 1, booth 1.70 of the Austria Center Vienna from 4th to 7th June. LIVEBOX is an entirely new way of experiencing music, utilizing the innovative True Ambience technology to create a stereo image like no other – impressively wide, outstandingly detailed, breathtakingly immersive. It operates on the principle of crosstalk cancellation: sound from the right speakers is cancelled for the left ear and vice versa. While the technology is very complex and based on the combination of intricate digital electronics, impeccable analogue speaker design, and precisely honed algorithms, the LIVEBOX remains very simple for the listener: one box, everything included. The authentic, live-like performance of a full concert, caught and transferred into the living room; that is LIVEBOX. Live at home.

No sound system ever plays by itself; it's always playing in a room. So while LIVEBOX is designed to sound great as is, it also features options to tailor its output to the room it is used in. LIVEBOX offers the service to set up the system on site for optimal results, taking into account the specifics of the physical space as well as personal preferences regarding the tonal balance. LIVEBOX is literally tuned for you. The sound is the most important aspect of a music system, of course, but it is by no means its only aspect. To perfectly integrate LIVEBOX into any space, it can be painted almost any colour, allowing it to visually disappear or stand out, depending on personal preference. LIVEBOX is made to fit.

To achieve the marvel that is LIVEBOX took the expertise of three renowned Swiss manufacturers, each the best in their respective fields. Weiss Engineering is a pioneer of digital audio technology, particularly revered among high-end mastering engineers, but also well-established in the discerning audiophile scene. PSI Audio is well-known among both professionals and audiophiles for astounding all-analogue speakers that deliver absolute sonic fidelity. Illusonic has been a leading developer in audio innovation, including psychoacoustics and human perception, and has provided innovative solutions to other manufacturers for 20 years. Together, these three companies present the pinnacle of Swiss ingenuity in the form of LIVEBOX.

Visitors of HIGH END 2026 in Vienna are cordially invited to come and hear LIVEBOX for themselves to experience the magic of True Ambience for themselves.
