packed 10-channel analog mixer loaded with our award-winning Onyx preamps and built-in GigFX+ digital effects, EQ, and compression, as well as USB-C interface and Bluetooth connectivity.

The ProFX10 GO gives you all the power without the plug. Up to eight hours on a rechargeable, swappable battery, so you can mix all night and into tomorrow. All the inputs and outputs you need for your whole live setup – mics, instruments, phone or tablet, and outputs to connect to your favorite GO loudspeakers from Mackie.

There’s no compromising sound quality or performance with the ProFX10 GO. Mackie’s low-noise, high-headroom Onyx preamps give you up to 60dB of gain and 48V phantom power on all channels, along with sweet analog compression and 3-band tone shaping EQ. The powerful GigFX digital effects engine lets you edit and save more than 24 different reverbs, delays, and choruses.

Connect your phone or tablet to the dedicated Bluetooth channel to send and receive audio wirelessly. Play your DJ set, perform with backing tracks, or even stream it live. You can even capture your entire event to your Mac or PC at high-resolution sample rates up to 192kHz via high-speed USB-C connection. And of course, like all Mackie products, it’s built like a tank with a rugged steel chassis to go anywhere the party is.

The ProFX10 GO is the untethered experience you’ve been waiting for. It’s the raw sound and full control of a true analog mixer, the processing power of GigFX+ digital effects, and high-resolution USB-C recording, in a feature-packed, portable package. The Mackie ProFX10 GO battery-powered mixer is now shipping and will be available at Mackie.com and at participating retailers, with a price of $399.99
