

Martin Audio UK Open Days

Martin Audio is joining forces with fellow pro audio brands from the Focusrite Group stable to showcase their respective offerings as well as highlight synergies in a series of Open Days running March 12-14 at High Wycombe, UK. Martin Audio will be conducting an extensive set of audio demonstrations highlighting rich pickings from their strongest ever line-up across stage monitors, point sources, constant curvature and line array, while also providing educational classes on its predictive software, DISPLAY 3.

The latest additions to the Focusrite Group, TiMax and OutBoard, will be making their Open Day debut. TiMax will have a dedicated showcase of its immersive sound solutions and stage tracking, while OutBoard will highlight its market leading motor control products. Optimal Audio will have new products to preview alongside demonstrating their latest Amp series. The freshest features of its multi-award winning cross-platform commercial audio controller, WebApp, will be showcased across a multi-zone venue. Optimal Audio will also be offering separate educational classes on its portfolio and deployment.

Finally, Linea Research will be on hand to showcase its range of high-performance amplifiers. One-to-one demonstrations of System Engineer 8, the user-friendly software platform that makes for a powerful synergy with Linea Research products, will be available throughout across the three days. James King, Marketing Director, concludes, "I'm delighted that these Open Days are now very much a multi-brand affair, with the opportunity to demonstrate everyone's respective disciplines, as well as synergies across the Group. This is our most ambitious content programme ever so that anyone in the pro audio industry has more reason to come along and enjoy their day."
