Martin Audio CDD for La Colline

AV integrators, Exacting Diseno Technical Services, once again found the Martin Audio loudspeaker portfolio to be perfect for their needs, when asked to specify a sound system for Dubai’s new luxurious French brasserie, La Colline, situated at the Al Habtoor Polo Resort. The Martin Audio partner was awarded the contract, based on recommendation, after having successfully delivered other projects for the clients previously.

The operation required mainly superior background music reproduction to be delivered, and Exacting Diseno instinctively turned to Martin Audio’s CDD6 as they have in the past. By deploying coaxial differential dispersion technology, they knew this would also be ideal for occasions when live music or more strident DJ playback was required. The integrators based the system design around two indoor zones with three areas outdoors with separate subwoofer volume control. The fit-out comprised three CDD6 and an SX210 subwoofer in the Bar area, and four CDD6 and pair or SX110 in the separate main zone. Outside sees a further 11 CDD6 deployed, along with four SX112. All CDDs were wall-mounted, and the subs concealed under the seating.

Exacting Diseno founder Lou Agha said the choice of CDD6 this time had been based around “size, sound quality and colour options.” He had persuaded the client to adopt white versions, which he said had been the correct decision, bearing in mind the overall interior aesthetic. The installation was supported by Martin Audio’s territorial distributor, PRO LAB. Commenting on the installation, the client said, “The concept was developed by a passionate team led by Alain El Tawil, blending French culinary tradition with a relaxed, elegant atmosphere. We were extremely impressed by the sound quality.”
