Martin Audio / TiMax Open Day 2025

The Martin Audio /TiMax series of roadshows moves to Massachusetts for its next US Open Day, which will take place on October 28th, with separate presentations and product demonstrations at 11am and 2pm. Hosting the event this time are Charles River Studios (Studio A), based at 495 Turnpike St. Canton, MA 02021. The US team will be on hand to present and talk to attendees about upcoming projects and the attributes and potential applications. They will demonstrate Martin Audio FlexPoint, TORUS constant curvature and Wavefront Precision optimised line arrays, as well as TiMax immersive audio solutions … all of which will be featured.

But pride of place will go to Martin Audio’s new BlacklineQ. This series is a reimagining of the iconic Blackline range delivers improved passive two-way point source loudspeakers, all-new column speakers and a suite of subwoofers. The entire series features intelligent design details, making it equally at home in portable or install applications. This will be matched by Martin Audio’s customary hospitality, and refreshments will be served throughout the day.

Commenting on the choice of venue, Lee Stein, VP North America, said it was time to return to the Northeast US, and Martin Audio colleague Martha Callaghan had suggested the venue as she was familiar with the facility. “We chose Boston as we hadn’t done an event of this scale there previously,” he said. “Martha thought it would be perfect, both functionally and locationally, for a Boston based Open Day.” As for BlacklineQ, he added, “We’re very excited to debut this product. It expands what the previous BlacklineX offered by featuring different form factors, configurations, and dispersion horns. The customer response and interest have been immediate and overwhelming, and customers will be delighted to hear what these speakers can do.”
