Neo Entertainment invests in Martin Audio Torus

Mumbai-based event production company Neo Entertainment has expanded its Martin Audio portfolio with the addition of a TORUS constant curvature line array system, complementing its existing Wavefront Precision WPC inventory and broadening its capability across a wider range of events and venues. Neo Entertainment is an established provider of professional sound, lighting, rigging and LED solutions across India, supporting concerts, corporate events, weddings, private functions and large-scale productions with a strong emphasis on technical quality and seamless execution.

Two years ago in 2024, the company made a significant step forward in capability with the investment in a Martin Audio WPC Wavefront Precision system as its front line line-array. Purchased from Vardhaman Mega-Tech (VMT), Martin Audio’s distribution partner in India, that investment comprised sixteen WPC array elements, eight SXH218 subwoofers and iK42 amplifier racks. Speaking at the time, Neo Entertainment Director Betson Carvalho described the impact: "Choosing the Martin Audio WPC system has been a transformative step for Neo Entertainment. This powerful combination of components has revolutionised our sound capabilities, delivering clear, dynamic and impactful audio that truly elevates events."

Phoca PDF

The system has since been deployed across countless events throughout India, with the company reporting consistently exceptional feedback from both clients and its technical team. With demand continuing to grow, Neo Entertainment returned to the Martin Audio portfolio for its next investment, this time adding the TORUS system to its inventory to provide greater flexibility for varied venue sizes and audience configurations. "Adding Martin Audio TORUS to our inventory has helped us raise the standard of sound we deliver at our events," says Carvalho. "The system performs with excellent clarity and control, making it easier to handle varied venues and audience sizes while maintaining a professional and consistent result."

The new system comprises eight TORUS T1215 loudspeakers, four Blackline X218 dual 18-inch subwoofers and two Linea Research 44M10 DSP amplifiers. The T1215 delivers focused coverage and impressive clarity across the audience area, while the X218 subwoofers add powerful low-frequency depth and punch for high-energy productions. Linea Research amplification provides precise DSP control and dependable operation throughout.

With a dedicated team and a client-focussed approach, the company continues to build its reputation as a trusted production partner in Mumbai’s event industry. “We have seen Neo Entertainment achieve remarkable success since their initial WPC investment, and it is a pleasure to see them continue that growth with TORUS,” comments Jeff Mandot, Director of Sales at VMT. “As the production landscape continues to evolve, the combination of premium audio performance and logistical flexibility is essential. By diversifying their Martin Audio inventory, Neo Entertainment are now equipped to deliver uncompromising sound quality across an even broader range of applications. We are delighted to support them as they continue to raise the bar for production standards in India.”

www.martin-audio.com

Phoca PDF