

Registration opens for ISE 2027

ISE brings together the people creating audiovisual technology, the professionals putting it to work and the ideas shaping what comes next. Industries cross paths, perspectives connect and new possibilities emerge When Worlds Unite. Registration opens in October 2026.

ISE is the global meeting place for AV and systems integration. For four days in Barcelona, you can see the latest technologies in action, meet the people behind them, learn from industry leaders and connect with a global community spanning the many markets where AV is transforming how people work, learn, shop, communicate and experience the world. At ISE, you don't just read about what's next. You see it, hear it and experience it.

Audio meets video. Creativity meets engineering. Physical spaces meet digital experiences. Established expertise meets new thinking. That convergence is at the heart of ISE. Across the show floor, you'll discover technologies and ideas that increasingly move beyond traditional industry boundaries – and meet the people finding new ways to combine them. Because some of the most exciting opportunities appear when different worlds stop working in isolation and start working together.

ISE is much more than an exhibition. The expanded ISE 2027 Content Programme will explore the major forces changing technology and business, with Megatrends sessions covering AI, robotics and machine learning, smart spaces, sustainability, TradeScape and cybersecurity. You'll also find specialist Summits and a free-to-attend programme of talks, forums and live stages, including the ISE Enterprise Broadcast Stage and Live Events Stage. It's another place where different experiences, expertise and perspectives come together – and where smart can get smarter, When Worlds Unite.

Registration opens for ISE 2027 on 2 - 5 February in Barcelona
