sE Electronics V7 Capsules Protection

Big news for our wireless fans: the V7 Capsule lineup has leveled up. Every V7 MC1 and V7 MC2 capsule now ships with two sleek new accessories designed to protect, preserve, and impress:

- A padded protective pouch - tough on the outside, soft on the inside, keeping your capsule safe from scuffs, dust, and the chaos of life on the road.
- A matching thread cover - a simple yet stylish solution that keeps the capsule's threads protected when not in use, maintaining a clean, professional look on any setup.

This upgrade means that from the moment your customers open the box, they're welcomed with a more thoughtful unboxing experience - including a padded protective pouch that keeps the capsule safe and ready for use, wherever they take it next. Already have customers who love their existing V7 capsules? No problem. The pouch and thread cover are also available separately. With this added touch of quality and practicality, the V7 capsule family continues to set the standard for durability and design, proving once again that every detail matters at sE Electronics.
