

Waves Audio MyFOH1

A Remote control App for the eMotion LV1 Live Mixer

Waves Audio, a developer of professional audio signal processing technologies and plugins, is now shipping MyFOH – a remote control app for the Waves eMotion LV1 Live Mixer that allows front-of-house engineers to control the LV1 over WiFi, from any iPad or Android tablet, and shape the live mix from anywhere in the venue.

As an FOH engineer, you don't always have the luxury of placing your mixing console in the best listening position on the venue floor. In such cases, moving around the venue to spot mix problems becomes a necessity. Walking around the venue also enables you to evaluate the mix from the vantage points of the audience and tweak accordingly.

With Waves' MyFOH, you can now make these decisions as soon as you hear them, from various locations in the venue. You can decide more confidently about levels, panning, FX sends etc. - and ultimately create a better mix. MyFOH also allows you to correct levels for front fills and delays, which are almost impossible to judge confidently from the stationary FOH position.

MyFOH brings the power of the eMotion LV1 to your tablet, and now you can have full control over:

Fader control (input channels, groups, auxes, FX groups, DCA, matrixes)

- Sends on faders
- Mutes and solos
- Mute groups and user assignable keys
- Panning (left/right)
- Channel inserts on/off
- Tap tempo
- Long fader/hide rack view
- Spill & link
- Changing scenes created in LV1

Furthermore, if you are handling both FOH and monitor duties at the same show, you can also use MyFOH next to the musicians on stage (rather than attempting effective communication from across the venue), creating a more personal, nuanced and professional experience for all involved.

Waves MyFOH Features:

- Remote control app for the eMotion LV1 live mixer
- Compatible for iPads and Android tablets
- Make mix decisions faster from anywhere in the room
- Friendly and efficient interface
- Controls faders, sends, mutes, solos, panning, inserts, tap tempo and more

With the Waves MyFOH app, you now have more control and increased flexibility and efficiency when setting up and managing your live sound events.

www.waves.com