EPOS IMPACT 5000 Go

Stay connected anywhere with the IMPACT 5000 Go DECT headset and foldable charge stand. Enjoy clear calls, one-port plug-and-play setup, and up to 135?m/442?ft. Range - perfect for flexible workstyles and seamless, professional communication. IMPACT 5000 Go headsets feature two digital microphones that work in harmony to cut through background noise and deliver exceptional voice clarity. One microphone actively filters out surrounding distractions, while the other hones in on your voice - ensuring every word is transmitted with precision and clarity to your listener.

DECT headsets offer significantly greater wireless range than Bluetooth, this extended range gives users the freedom to move around large office spaces, warehouses, or remote work environments without losing connection. A reliable choice for busy environments packed with electronic devices, offering stronger performance with less interference from other wireless signals.

As DECT headsets operate on their own dedicated frequency range, they maintain superior connection quality and stability even in busy office environments with many headsets in use - giving reliable, interruption-free communication. The IMPACT 5000 Go charge stand CH 50 is built for professionals who need to work across multiple locations - delivering the ultimate in portability and convenience for your DECT solution. With its unique foldable design, it collapses into a slim, travel-ready form that slips easily into your bag without wasting valuable space. Weighing just 120 grams (4.23 ounces), it’s light enough to take anywhere without worrying about extra weight.

As the only DECT charge stand on the market with a foldable design, the CH 50 gives you unmatched flexibility - so you can stay connected, wherever work takes you. In noisy environments, the advanced noise-cancelling microphone and EPOS own-voice detection technology deliver exceptional speech clarity and a rich, natural-sounding voice, enabling professional, effective communication.

Designed for flexibility, the IMPACT 5000 Go DECT headset and foldable charge stand make it easy to stay connected across changing work environments - from home offices to shared desks. The charge stand and dongle connect via a single USB cable for fast, hassle-free setup. With the dongle port integrated directly into the charge stand, only one USB port is required - freeing up connectivity for other devices. When not in use, the dongle stays securely in place for safe, convenient storage.
