

AES Vegas 2021 Canceled; AES Fall Online 2021 Proceeding as Scheduled

Due to the evolving realities of the COVID pandemic, the NAB announced its decision to cancel the upcoming in-person Las Vegas convention. The AES convention was collocated with the NAB Show, and following the NAB announcement, the AES will regrettably cancel the in-person AES Show Las Vegas 2021, planned for October 10 - 13.

The AES Fall Online program will proceed, with events taking place online between October 16 - 31, including a broadly focused technical program October 20 - 23.

Further information is forthcoming for those who have registered for the in-person convention, including converting that registration to experience the online program.

We apologize for the change in plans, but we hope you understand that it was not feasible to continue as planned. Please focus on your continued health and safety, and hopefully, 2022 can see the much-anticipated return of in-person Audio Engineering Society community events.
