Audeze MM-520

Audeze, an audio technology brand and premium headphone manufacturer, announced the MM-520, the next evolution of its purpose built studio headphones in the Manny Marroquin Signature Series. Building upon the award-winning foundation of the MM-500, the new MM-520 integrates Audeze’s revolutionary SLAM (Symmetric Linear Acoustic Modulator) technology to provide audio professionals and creators with unprecedented bass accuracy and spatial detail.

Developed in close collaboration with 18-time Grammy-winning mix engineer Manny Marroquin, the MM-520 is a purpose-built tool designed to deliver mixes that translate perfectly across any system. By incorporating SLAM technology, the MM-520 optimizes air pressure within the earcup to enhance low-frequency impact and soundstage transparency without sacrificing the mid-range neutrality that made the original MM-500 a studio staple.

Audeze MM-520 Key Features:

- Audeze’s Symmetric Linear Acoustic Modulator (SLAM) enhances bass performance and spatial imaging, providing a more visceral yet accurate low-end response.
- Refined by one of the industry's top engineers to ensure mastering-grade reliability and emotional engagement.
- Features 90mm planar magnetic drivers with Ultra-Thin Uniforce diaphragms and Fazor phase management for ultra-low distortion and clinical precision.

- High sensitivity and low impedance allow the MM-520 to be driven easily by consoles, interfaces, or laptops, both inside and outside the studio.
- Upgraded memory foam earpads designed for comfort during marathon mixing sessions, with magnetic attachment for easy replacement

"The MM-520 represents the latest entry in our mission to provide creators and professionals with the ultimate monitoring tool" stated Sankar Thiagasamudram, Audeze CEO. "By adding SLAM technology to Manny's signature series, we've created a headphone that delivers even more truth in the low-end while maintaining the signature clarity Audeze is known for", he added.

The Audeze MM-520 will be available for $1699 at the website below and through authorized dealers worldwide.
