

Audified ToneKnob Ultimate Bundle

Software application, software effect, and hardware processor developer Audified announces the availability of its ToneKnob Ultimate Bundle - bringing together six single-knob plug-ins providing studio-grade ambient reverb, compression, de-essing, guitar amp tone, modulation, and saturation effects in a super-simple format that streamlines workflow thanks to each effect plug-in being controlled by turning the knob until it sounds right, removing the need for fussy menu diving and mind-numbingly monotonous multi-parameter tweaking in the process of doing so - as of August 4...

Readily representing the first plug-in in Audified's relatively recently revamped and redesigned 'one-knob' series, ToneKnob Saturator builds upon the software application, software effect, and hardware processor developer's 25 years of experience to creatively combine and set up the harmonic tube distortion colours of its 1A Equalizer effect plug-in - itself creatively combining vintage schematics with modern technological know-how to teach an old Pultec® new sonic tricks as a virtual homage to and evolution of electronics engineer Eugene Richard Shenk's trailblazing tube-based EQ design dating back to the mid-Fifties, featured on countless hits as a recording industry staple to this day - and U78 Saturator sibling - serving up meticulous models of the amazing-sounding analogue circuitry central to the Telefunken U73b, the treasured Sixties-vintage German broadcast tube compressor/limiter that found favour in European mastering circles well into the Eighties and beyond, but supplementing the tube saturation circuitry with high- and low-pass filters and a unique tone filter for some seriously satisfying saturation - so users can achieve anything from subtle sound saturation to distortion wildness when turning a single knob that greets them with comic-style speech bubbles offering light-hearted hints to help them navigate.

Next out of the 'one-knob' series starting gate - and onwards into ToneKnob Ultimate Bundle, ultimately, ToneKnob Compressor is essentially a compact, simplified version of that Telefunken U73b, albeit one on steroids. Indeed, it offers everything from soft, slow-release compression - ideal for acoustic instruments, bass guitar, or vocals - to aggressive, fast-smash compression that shines when used as an insert effect for kick drums or snares, delivering drums with a punchy and controlled sound.

As a hybrid reverb with a shimmer grain generator, ToneKnob Stargazer transforms any sound into ethereal, lush soundscapes. Suited to working with guitars, synths, vocals, and more, it is simple to use with a single knob ensuring everything from small room reverb to endless ambient textures flow forth with the greatest of ease.

ToneKnob TriMod combines and seamlessly blends three essential modulation effects - namely, chorus, flanger, and phaser - into one sophisticated tool. This is a precisely tuned algorithm, allowing users to transition between classic Seventies sounds into the iconic Eighties, grungy Nineties, and beyond. Better still, subtle movement to rich, swirling textures are all available at the turn of a single knob.

ToneKnob TinyAmp effectively represents the world's tiniest four-channel guitar amp plug-in, providing users with studio-ready amp sounds - spanning clean jazz tones to classic rock crunch and modern metal leads - in a single knob turn. Coming complete with built-in ambience, cab sims, and smart extras, it is ideal for demos, home practice, and quick inspiration - anytime, anywhere.

Speedy sibilance taming comes courtesy of ToneKnob SSSniper, duly designed as a go-to, single-knob de-esser, detecting and targeting troublesome 's' and 'sh' frequencies that frequently foul up vocals and voiceovers - even cymbals in drum tracks - while intelligently leaving everything else intact. Its natural, smooth sound is free from dullness - perfect for fast fixes or full productions.

Put it this way: while already available individually at an affordable $29.00 USD apiece - actually, ToneKnob SSSniper is currently available at a time-limited discounted price of only $19.00 USD, anyone who has yet to acquaint themselves with Audified's 'one-knob' series' super-simple format that streamlines workflow can not only save a tidy sum by investing in ToneKnob Ultimate Bundle but also possibly save themselves from fussy menu diving and mind-numbingly monotonous multi-parameter tweaking in the process of bagging themselves all six single-knob plug-ins in one hit - one that is certain to be a sure-fire hit with anyone taking the plunge.
