Audio-Technica ATH-M20x White Version

Audio-Technica, an innovator in transducer technology for over 60 years, has introduced a new white version of its popular ATH-M20x professional monitor headphones. With over two million sold worldwide, the ATH-M20x is among A-T’s most successful headphone models, and the new ATH-M20x WH iteration offers a requested fresh look for professional creators.

Phoca PDF

The entry-level model in the acclaimed M-Series of professional monitor headphones, ATH-M20x headphones have earned a reputation for their high sound quality and comfortable fit at an extremely affordable price point, and a rugged build that can withstand the demands of professional workplaces. This new white model will enable fans to match their go-to headphones with their creative environment.

www.audio-technica.com