Audiologic New Tascam Distributor for UK and Ireland

In a joint communication, Tascam Europe and Audiologic have announced today that Audiologic has been appointed exclusive distributor of Tascam and ART (Applied Research and Technology) products for the United Kingdom and Ireland. The announcement was made by Ralf Kohlmeier, Tascam Division Manager Europe, and Audiologic MD Andy Lewis. “We’re thrilled to partner with Audiologic,” says Ralf Kohlmeier. “Their proven excellence in AV integration, especially their customer service and technical know-how, perfectly aligns with our commitment to quality audio and innovation. They’re a natural fit to lead Tascam forward as our exclusive channel partner in the UK and Ireland, and we anticipate a highly successful collaboration.”

“Bringing Tascam and ART into our portfolio is a significant development for Audiologic,” comments Andy Lewis. “Both of these brands have a rich heritage in studio and broadcast audio, coupled with reputations for quality and innovation, making them an ideal complement to our existing roster of premium brands. Both align perfectly with our vision to provide customers with trusted, high-quality audio technology solutions and we are eager to begin this new chapter.”

Following recent business restructuring, the appointment of Audiologic as exclusive distributor is seen as a logical and strategically pro-active business move by Tascam Europe, with long-standing Tascam Europe Sales Manager, Neil Wells moving across to join Audiologic, ensuring seamless continuity for customer relationships in the UK. The distributorship takes effect from Monday 18 August 2025, from which point Audiologic will assume the role of sole appointed distributor of Tascam Europe for UK and Ireland, with all new orders and warranty/service provision going through the company.

Phoca PDF

www.tascam.eu
www.audiologic.co.uk
www.eav.group

Phoca PDF