

Austrian Audio extends Warranty for Headphones

Austrian Audio announced that each product in its line of high-precision made-in-Austria headphones will now include up to five years of comprehensive warranty coverage. Effective immediately, purchasers of the pro audio company's The Composer, Hi-X65, Hi-X60, Hi-X55, or Hi-X50 headphones can register their products on Austrian Audio's website for the five-year warranty, and retaining proof of purchase will ensure they are covered.

Designed, engineered, and built in Austria, this line of pro audio headphones from the Vienna-based company delivers immersive sound quality ideal for any professional musician, producer, engineer, or discerning audiophile. "We believe in the quality and durability of our products," noted Martin Seidl, Austrian Audio's CEO. "Extending the warranty to five years reflects our confidence in the tools we make and our commitment to the artists we design them for. It's our responsibility to provide top-tier service for these top-tier products."

With a quick visit to this registration page on the company's website, the end user can now register to extend to a total of five years (60 months) from the date of purchase. The coverage applies to the following Austrian-made headphone models.

- The Composer: Designed for the ultimate immersive listening experience.
