Bogren Digital Ampknob Duet & Fatman

Bogren Digital releases Ampknob Duet (pictured above) and Ampknob Fatman, plugins inspired by clean tone icons from the 50s and 60s. Designed in keeping with the Ampknob philosophy, these two plugins offer all the tone with no distractions. The Ampknob Duet and Ampknob Fatman plugins cost $49 each, and will be available to bundle with any third Ampknob for a total of $98. For a limited time, both plugins will be available at a 20% off introductory price. The plugins are available immediately from the Bogren Digital store and authorized dealers.

Ampknob Duet

- The defining sound of countless records for over 60 years
- Included spring reverb and tube-bias-inspired tremolo
- Adjustable studio room ambience
- Subtle pedal option for enriched harmonics and dynamics
- Engineered to the highest standards by Jens Bogren
- Three distinct cabinet flavors
- Powered by IRDX speaker dynamics technology

Phoca PDF

- Built-in riff recorder - no need to open your DAW

The Duet is inspired by a 1960s amp that defined jazz, blues, surf rock, classic country, and 70s funk. If a sound could be described as "expensive-smelling cologne", this would be it. It’s pristine, massive, and crystal-clear. Steadfastly resistant to distorting, it adds an extra dimension to every note and has to be pushed hard to achieve overdrive. It sounds like your guitar, only more. Deep, authoritative lows and shimmering highs, with the middle frequencies neatly tucked back. Be warned: with an attack that feels tactile, punchy, and immediate, this amp doesn’t hide your mistakes; it broadcasts them in high definition.

True to its counterpart’s mythical status as a pedal platform, the Ampknob Duet will take anything you throw at it just like the real thing. Be it fuzz, compression, or a clean boost - go nuts and make those emulated tubes work. Click over to the FX page to tweak the included vintage goodies that make this amp extra special. Spring reverb, warm tube-bias-inspired tremolo, and an authentic studio room ambience will make you never want to put your guitar down.

Ampknob Fatman

Phoca PDF

- The holy grail of classic rock
- Included spring reverb and boost pedal
- Adjustable studio room ambience
- Engineered to the highest standards by Jens Bogren
- Three distinct cabinet flavors, including a bass cab
- Powered by IRDX speaker dynamics technology
- Built-in riff recorder - no need to open your DAW

The Fatman is based on a vintage 1950s masterpiece originally designed for bass players. It became the holy grail for guitarists through its ability to put forth tone with immense weight, but not a hint of harshness. It’s like the perfect cup of coffee: it’s warm, complex, gives a kick when pushed, and essential for getting the day started on the right foot. It’s not tight or modern, it’s bouncy and pillowy, with bass that feels like it’s vibrating in your chest. The 4x10 speaker setup offers a thick, woody midrange and sweet, sweet highs, imbuing your guitar sound with vocal-like qualities. This old dog doesn’t need new tricks. This amp yearns to be pushed. Flick on the included boost pedal and crank the volume knob to drive the amp into creamy and chewy overdrive. Bring in a touch (or a dollop) of the spring reverb, and you’ve got yourself a killer classic rock lead tone.

Ampknob Duet and Ampknob Fatman are powered by IRDX technology, giving the included cabinets or third-party IR a more true-to-life dynamic response. New with these Ampknobs is the “Room” control. With it, you can easily blend in a sense of space and character. For more control over the ambient sounds within the plugin, you can also use the “Pan” control (stereo output only) to pan your main guitar sound separately to the room and reverb.

Use it in your DAW, and you’ll find a handy tuner and comprehensive noise gate. Use it in standalone form, and you also get a powerful metronome and riff recorder. Perfect for practicing, sketching ideas, or capturing killer riffs without ever having to load up your DAW. The Ampknob Duet and Ampknob Fatmam plugins cost $49 each and will be available to bundle with any third Ampknob for a total of $98. This is our “Build Your Own Bundle” deal, where any 3 Ampknob plugins can be bought together for the price of 2.

For a limited time, both plugins will be available at a 20% off introductory price. The plugins are available immediately from the Bogren Digital store and authorized dealers.

www.bogrendigital.com

Phoca PDF