

EVE Audio & Arturia Partnership

EVE Audio and Arturia have joined forces to give music creators an extra dimension of creative tools with every qualifying EVE Audio monitor purchase. From October 1 through December 31, 2026, customers who purchase and register a qualifying pair of EVE Audio monitors will receive a 12-month license of Arturia FX Collection 6 Pro worth €499 / $499. Available worldwide, the promotion brings together EVE Audio's precision monitoring and Arturia's extensive collection of professional effects, giving producers, engineers and musicians an expanded toolkit for both hearing and shaping their sound.

Based in Berlin, Germany, EVE Audio designs all of its studio monitors at its headquarters in the German capital. The company's approach combines considered acoustic engineering with a strong focus on accurate, detailed sound reproduction, resulting in monitoring solutions designed for professional music production and critical listening. The promotion includes EVE Audio's EXO Series, which brings a new dimension to the company's monitor range. EXO monitors are supported by EVE Origin, EVE Audio's dedicated software for configuring and working with compatible EXO Series monitors. The EVE Audio SC Series of Midfield and Main Monitors are also included in this campaign.

Arturia's FX Collection 6 Pro brings together a broad range of professional effects for modern music production, mixing and sound design. The collection combines creative processors with classic-inspired studio tools, covering everything from reverb, delay, saturation and modulation to dynamics, EQ, filtering and pitch processing. FX Collection 6 Pro includes 39 effects and more than 1,500 presets, providing a deep palette of sounds and processing options for producers and engineers. The sixth generation of the collection also introduces five new effects: Efx AMBIENT, Pitch SHIFTER-910, Bus TRANSIENT, Mix DRUMS and Tape J-37.

The partnership between EVE Audio and Arturia brings together two complementary parts of the creative process. EVE Audio monitors are designed in Berlin to provide a detailed and reliable reference for critical listening, while Arturia's effects give creators an extensive range of tools for shaping, processing and transforming sound. For EXO users, the combination of EXO monitors, EVE Origin and FX Collection 6 Pro creates a particularly compelling studio workflow - from configuring the monitoring environment, to making critical decisions, to exploring new creative directions. "We wanted this promotion to offer genuine creative value to EVE Audio customers, regardless of which part of our monitor range they choose. EXO and EVE Origin represent an exciting development for EVE Audio, while the SC Series continues to be an important part of our range. Arturia's FX Collection 6 Pro is a natural complement to both, giving creators an extensive palette of tools to explore.

The promotion is available worldwide from October 1 to December 31, 2026.

1. Purchase a qualifying pair of EVE Audio monitors from an EVE Audio dealer.
2. Register your monitors during the promotional period.
3. Receive your code for a 12-month license of Arturia FX Collection 6 Pro by email following registration and verification.
4. Create with a comprehensive collection of professional effects from Arturia.

Full promotional terms and conditions apply.

www.eve-audio.com