

Fiedler Audio Rent-to-Own Options

Fiedler Audio today announced the launch of a new Rent-to-Own (RTO) purchasing program for all software products sold directly through the company's web store. The new program is designed to make professional immersive audio tools easily and instantly accessible for all creators, educators, and studios.

"Immersive audio should be available when inspiration strikes - not when budgets finally allow," said Thomas Fiedler, CEO Fiedler Audio. "Our Rent-to-Own model lets users start working immediately and grow into ownership at a pace that fits their needs."

For every eligible product, customers can now choose between three Rent-to-Own plans:

- 3 months period
- 6 months period
- 12 months period

The Rent-to-Own option is available for:

- All Individual software products
- All product bundles
- All Education (EDU) licenses

Multi-Seat licenses are excluded from the Rent-to-Own program.

Under the Rent-to-Own model, users gain immediate access to the full version of the software while paying in fixed monthly instalments, extending the license by one month with each payment. Once the last instalment is completed, the license is fully owned by the customer. With this initiative, Fiedler Audio continues its commitment to lowering barriers to entry for high-end immersive audio production, offering a transparent and predictable path to ownership without compromising functionality.
