

FiiO Jade Audio Headphones & FiiO BR15

The affordable FiiO brand Jade Audio today announce two new headphones designed to allow music fans to step into high-fidelity territory for the first time. Leading the showcase is the Jade Audio JT7 open-back planar magnetic headphone, joined by the Jade Audio JT3 dynamic headphone. The FiiO BR15 is a cutting edge desktop Bluetooth receiver with a 24-bit R2R DAC array. Together, they represent FiiO's continued commitment to bringing premium acoustic engineering to listeners at accessible price points. The Jade Audio JT7 is a major technological statement for FiiO: a lightweight, foldable, high-performance planar magnetic headphone engineered entirely in-house to change expectations of what a planar headphone can cost.

Building on years of planar R&D, the JT7 features a 95 × 86mm ultra-large planar driver and a push-pull magnetic architecture with two-way high-density magnets. This fully symmetrical drive system ensures exceptionally low distortion, rapid transient response and a natural, expansive soundstage previously reserved for much larger and more expensive planar headphones.

The JT7 also incorporates FiiO's breakthrough F.E.S. (FiiO Elastic System) - an embossed structural design on the diaphragm that increases elastic amplitude and enhances low-frequency dynamics. This innovation brings planar speed and clarity together with deeper, more authoritative bass extension. The JT7 weighs just 318 g, making it one of the lightest planar headphones ever designed. A detachable 3.5 mm single-ended and 4.4 mm balanced cable come as standard alongside replaceable earpads and a removable Velcro headband cushion, to ensure long-term durability and comfort. The JT7 stands as FiiO's most ambitious planar headphone to date, making high-end planar performance genuinely attainable for everyday listeners. The ideal partner would be the FiiO M21 music player. Price: 119.99 EUR, 104.99 GBP, 119.99 USD. The JT7 is out now.

Supporting the flagship JT7 is the Jade Audio JT3, an open-back dynamic headphone designed to deliver a wide soundstage, best in class clarity and comfort at an entry-level price. Equipped with a 50 mm dynamic driver featuring a PEK + PU composite diaphragm and a high-tension CCAW voice coil, the JT3 is engineered for punchy bass, articulate mids, and clean high-frequency extension. A brass damping ring further reduces distortion and improves micro-detail reproduction. The JT3 continues FiiO's philosophy of prioritising acoustic investment: placing budget into drivers and internal materials rather than unnecessary accessories, allowing the headphone to deliver a level of resolution and openness that exceeds its accessible price. With a lightweight 330g design, velvet earpads, aluminium-magnesium alloy grilles and dual 3.5 mm connectors, the JT3 is built for comfort. The ideal partner would be the FiiO JM21 music player. Price: 76.99 EUR, 66.99 GBP, 76.99 USD. The JT3 is out now.

The BR15 is a next-generation bluetooth receiver for audio enthusiasts who demand uncompromising wireless fidelity. The BR15 redefines what a compact desktop receiver can deliver for a hi-fi system, headphone amp or active speakers. Powered by Qualcomm's flagship QCC5181 Bluetooth 5.4, the BR15 supports aptX Lossless and LDAC, ensuring bit-perfect wireless transmission and studio-grade clarity. At its core is a fully differential true 24-bit R2R DAC, engineered with precision resistor arrays for natural tonality.

Designed as a complete decoding solution, the BR15 offers Bluetooth, USB (front and rear), and SPDIF inputs, feeding two sets of RCA outputs plus one XLR balanced output for seamless integration with amplifiers and powered speakers such as the FiiO SP5. A 10-band PEQ provides flexible, system-wide tuning via the FiiO Control
