

inouï samples “Trombibone”

The Trombibone is a new instrument that opens up an infinite world of multiphonic possibilities. The flute can produce multiphonic sounds. So can the clarinet, the oboe and the bassoon. But on a brass instrument, it was an acoustically impossible fantasy - until now. Designed for composers, it offers a whole new palette of unheard sounds for new compositional and orchestration possibilities.

inouï samples recorded a vast array of multiphonic sounds in the best French conditions. Then, they carefully selected and organized 2,789 unique samples into 91 chromatically playable playing techniques, making them easy to integrate into your creative workflow.
