

JOYNED New Avnu Alliance Promoter Member

JOYNED today announced that it has become an Avnu Alliance Promoter Member, strengthening its long-standing commitment to Milan and expanding its role in the continued development of the Milan ecosystem. Already a Milan Associate Member, JOYNED is now taking a more active role within the Avnu Alliance through participation in technical working groups, certification initiatives, and industry collaboration. As a Promoter Member, JOYNED joins industry leaders including Adamson, Audiotonix, d&b audiotechnik, L-Acoustics, Luminex, Meyer Sound, and PreSonus in advancing the Milan ecosystem.

"We're pleased to welcome JOYNED as a Promoter member of Avnu, building on their journey as a Milan Associate member. Avnu is defined by what its members deliver together on real-time Ethernet, and Joyned brings strong momentum with its focus on Milan devices. We look forward to shaping the next phase of the ecosystem together." - Daniel Zimmermann, Avnu Board Member

As a Promoter Member, JOYNED will contribute to the Milan Task Group, support the continued evolution of certification programs, help improve the accessibility of Milan-certified switch technology, and contribute to education initiatives through the Avnu EXCEP program.

"We've always been committed to Milan because we believe interoperability should be an expectation, not a differentiator. With our technology deployed by partners and our products reaching customers worldwide, becoming an Avnu Alliance Promoter Member is the natural next step. It allows us to contribute not only through our products, but also by helping strengthen the Milan ecosystem for the benefit of manufacturers and users alike." - Fabian Braun, Founder & CEO, JOYNED

"Milan has established a strong technical foundation for interoperability. We're looking forward to contributing to its continued evolution, particularly in areas where modern software-driven products can be better supported through certification while maintaining the reliability and interoperability that make Milan successful." - Morten Lave, CTO, JOYNED

www.joyned.io