

LEWITT Space Replicator Free

LEWITT's Space Replicator is a virtual monitoring plugin for mixing and mix translation checks on your headphones. And now there is a completely free version available. "The free version of Space Replicator is our little gift to the audio community. We hope it can help improve the audio production workflows of everyone who doesn't have access to a reliable mixing room by providing a state-of-the-art yet easy-to-use solution." says Moritz Lochner, Head of Product Management at LEWITT.

Space Replicator is ideal if you don't always have access to an acoustically treated room or if you are mixing on your headphones but want the natural stereo field of speakers in a studio. Compared to other solutions, LEWITT's Space Replicator works with the headphones you already have. Simply choose your model from a list of over 800 headphone compensation curves directly in the plugin, ensuring an accurate listening experience.

Space Replicator Free offers everything you need to create better mixes:

- Mixing, mastering, and critical listening - Turn your headphones into a world-class studio for mixing, mastering, and critical listening with LEWITT Studio A.
- Mix translation checks - Check how your mix translates to different smartphone and laptop speakers in a living room.

LEWITT introduces Space Replicator Free

Tuesday, 01 September 2026 13:44

- Consumer headphone emulation - Find out how your mix sounds on H-Pods, an exact replica of the most popular earbud model.
800+ headphone compensation profiles - To calibrate your headphones for an accurate listening experience, choose your model from the list to compensate for its frequency response.
- Standalone functionality - To enhance your casual headphone experience on your computer for music listening, video watching, and so on, you can launch Space Replicator even without a DAW.
- No internet connection required - Space Replicator Free doesn't require you to have an iLok or internet connection to run the plug-in.

Space Replicator Free doesn't require you to have an iLok or internet connection to run the plug-in. LEWITT Space Replicator is available for $/€ 99.- and as Space Essential for $/€ 49 at the website below.

www.lewitt-audio.com