Nembrini’s Acoustic Voice Pro Plugin Upgraded

Nembrini Audio announces an upgrade to its Acoustic Voice Pro Plugin, taking this professional acoustic guitar enhancement tool to the next level. Watch the launch video here. The original plugin was widely praised for its ability to transform direct pickup signals from acoustic guitars fitted with under-saddle Piezo or Magnetic pickups. When recorded, the sound produced by these pick-ups could produce thin, harsh or unnatural tones. The plugin restores the natural resonance of the guitar’s sound and gives it the body and spatial depth of a professionally recorded, studio-quality acoustic performances. Listen to sound samples here.

The latest version of the Acoustic Voice Pro Plugin expands the guitar emulations library from six to TEN: the vintage small-body tone of the Martin 1936 0-17, the resonant hollow-neck character of the Weissenborn, the Martin 0028Ec’s balanced fingerstyle voice, the Martin HD-28V’s depth and projection and the punchy vintage of the Gibson L-00. Also included is the jumbo style presence of the Landola J80E, the strong strumming response of the Guild D140CE*, the natural modern tone of the Ayers DSR the polished Hi-Fi clarity of the Taylor 814ce Deluxe* and the Taylor Grand Theater K21e’s* articulate, refined warmth. This extensive selection offers guitarists and producers a cost effective, versatile array of professional studio tones to cover all music genres and tastes.

For a richer, more realistic mike-acoustic sound the plugin’s microphone emulations collection has grown from three to FIVE: the clear and detailed Audix ADX51, the tight focused Beyerdynamic M210, the punchy Shure SM57, the controlled, natural Electro-Voice RE20 and the Open, polished AKG C414. Also added is a built -in IR Loader with third party IR support, dedicated dynamics and tone-shaping tools and an enhanced studio effects system.
