PSI Audio Custom Pro

PSI Audio separates the larger speaker systems from its nearfield monitors to offer the best possible service to customers. The new range subsumes the three-way speakers under the label „Custom Pro“. Until now, all speakers from PSI Audio were grouped together in the A series, from the smallest A14-M all the way up to the recently introduced main monitor A226-MAIN. To better support customers in integrating the large speaker systems into their listening environments, PSI Audio remodels the distribution chain and sells these more challenging systems exclusively through approved partners who can provide appropriate demonstration and system integration services. This new Custom Pro range encompasses the A23-M, A25-M, A226-MAIN, A326 D-REX, and the Sub A225-M.

The PSI Audio Custom Pro speakers are incredibly powerful, with all the sonic strengths the Swiss manufacturer is known for. To allow these outstandingly accurate listening tools to perform at their best, PSI Audio wants to make sure to give customers optimal guidance, consulting, and service, hence the decision to sell the speakers exclusively through specially approved partners. This way the manufacturer can ensure the customers don’t just get the best monitor speakers, but the best possible listening experience for their respective situation.

This important step for PSI Audio has been thoroughly considered and prepared, and so there already is an extensive list of approved Custom Pro partners with the required acoustic and procedural know-how available on the website below. The nearfield speakers from the A range (A14-M, A14-M Broadcast, A17-M, A21-M,
