

microKORG2 Sinevibes Plugins

Sinevibes has just announced the availability of their KORG FX series plugins for KORG microKORG2 synthesizer. This became possible thanks to the all-new software update 2.0 for the microKORG2 released just today – which, among many other features, adds support for KORG's bespoke plugin development framework.

Sinevibes team has worked closely with KORG engineers to port and optimize their second-generation KORG FX series plugins specifically for the hardware architecture of the microKORG2. A total of 15 plugins are immediately available: these include such KORG user favorites as Albedo v2 granular cloud reverb, Corrosion v3 multi-algorithm distortion, and Rerun self-randomizing repeater. In addition to this, the brand has also announced two all-new plugin titles: Atom dynamic multi-mode filter and Drift v2 wind turbulence simulator, and they are coming very soon as free downloads. Sinevibes promises that thanks to the unique features and musical tuning, their KORG FX plugin series is able to dramatically elevate the sonic powers of microKORG2 – up to the levels of dedicated outboard processors – while keeping everything easily accessible inside a single portable device.

Available Sinevibes Korg FX Plugins:

- Albedo v2 granular cloud reverb
- Blend v2 multi-voice chorus
- Corrosion v3 multi-algorithm distortion
- DCM8 sample rate & bit depth reduction
- Dipole v2 through-zero flanger
- Finite granular pitch shifter
- Hollow v2 vast space reverb
