Studioszene 2024

Studioszene, the community event for audio engineers, producers, and home recorders, will open its doors this year from October 22 to 24, 2024, at Messe Hamburg (Hall B6). As in the previous year, Studioszene 2024 will once again be part of LEaT con, the networking convention for the live and entertainment industry, as a special area. The focus will be on recording, mixing, mastering, and producing. Visitors can expect an attractive and exciting educational program as well as exhibitors from the studio and live audio worlds.

Participants can look forward to top-notch national and international audio engineers and producers, including:

- Warren Huart (Aerosmith)
- Kalli Reinhardt (Nico Santos)
- Julia Borelli (NOVAA)
- Moritz Enders (Casper)
- Zino Mikorey (Deichkind)
- Dom Rivinius (Taylor Swift)
- Julia Bergen & David Bonk (Helene Fischer)
- Philipp Schwär (Revolverheld)

On over 10,000 square meters, leading brands from the pro audio industry will present their latest products. Exhibitors include: AEA, Audioscape, Audeze, Audio-Technica, Audix, AVID, Cranborne Audio, Cordial, DiGiCo, DiGiGrid, DPA Microphones, Elysia, Genelec, HearSafe, JBL, Klang:Technologies, König & Meyer, MOTU, Meyer Sound, Microtech Gefell, Neumann, Neutrik, Omnitronik, REMIC Microphones, Roger Schult, Rupert Neve Designs, Schoeps, Sennheiser, SE-Electronics, Shure, Solid State Logic, SPL, Sessiondesk, Stagetec, Steinberg, TASCAM, Telefunken, Waves Audio, Voyage Audio, Yamaha, and many more.

Once again this year, Studioszene offers an attractive masterclass program. In 90-minute sessions, absolute professionals from the fields of mixing, mastering, and producing will show how to take your tracks to the next level with the right tools and tricks. On the Gear Stage, exhibitors will have the opportunity to showcase their products in action. In addition, there will be exciting Q&A sessions with speakers and lessons. A highlight is Duo Mastering, who will demonstrate how the master of the track Blessed by Cro feat. Capital Bra was created.

Under the motto #norocketscience, the DIY Area invites participants to solder their own hardware and microphone cables. The experts from Analogvibes will show that building studio gear such as a reamping box or a gain booster is simple. In addition to the opportunity to solder a microphone cable for free, participants can also purchase a reamping box and a gain booster and assemble them together with the professionals.

The Studiosofa podcast with Marc Bohn and Klaus Baetz will be live on-site daily, offering a wrap-up of the trade show day with exciting guests. The Studiosofa is the perfect meeting point for exchanging ideas with other visitors and speakers. Interviews with partners such as The Self-Recording Band, Bonedo, Mothergrid, and Chris Cuhls round out the program.

Interested parties should quickly grab a ticket, including the limited Masterclass Upgrade, and secure access to the exclusive masterclass program and the Gear Stage.

Ticket holders benefit from:

- 250+ top brands in the industry
- 120+ panels & lectures
- Top-notch masterclasses with absolute professionals
- Lessons, product demos, and Q&A sessions
- Gear highlights
