Apogee & IK Multimedia Immersive Audio Bundle

Apogee Electronics and IK Multimedia announce an exciting collaboration to set a new standard for immersive audio production. The new bundle pairs IK’s acclaimed iLoud MTM MKII studio monitors with Apogee’s new Symphony Studio Series interfaces, delivering unparalleled sound quality and precision for professional and home studio environments. This bundle is designed for audio engineers, producers and creatives looking to achieve exceptional clarity and immersion in their mixes. Whether for music production, sound design, or post-production for film and TV, this partnership ensures that users will have access to industry-leading technology that meets the highest standards.

Key Features of the Bundle include:

iLoud MTM MKII Monitors

- The iLoud MTM MKII monitors are known for redefining sound accuracy in compact monitors. With advanced digital signal processing (DSP), users benefit from precise frequency response and linear phase sound, delivering incredible clarity, time alignment and spacial accuracy across all frequencies for hours of fatigue-free mixing.
- The MTM MKII monitors offer a flat frequency response from 40 Hz to 24 kHz, revealing even the most subtle sonic details. And despite their size, a completely redesigned power amp delivers 100W of power with enhanced maximum SPL and headroom to meet the requirements of the widest range of spaces. All this in an easily mountable, 5.5 lb speaker with included mic thread and 4 overhead mounting brackets to make install a breeze.
- Built-in ARC (Automatic Room Calibration) adapts the monitors to the room’s acoustic environment for optimal sound performance in any space, as well as IK’s award-wining X-MONITOR software to give users complete control over every speaker element, including precise delay compensation between units for improved stereo and immersive imaging.

Symphony Studio Series Interfaces

- The Symphony Studio Series from Apogee brings legendary sound quality to a new generation of creators, combining unparalleled audio fidelity with a focus on immersive audio. These interfaces offer a unique and accessible way to elevate recordings and mixes, making them perfect for professionals and home studio users. Featuring 75 dB of clean gain, the Symphony Studio Series preamps ensure transparent-to-source audio, faithfully reproducing every nuance of the performance.
- With immersive audio workflows, the Symphony Studio Series supports up to 9.1.6 Dolby Atmos configurations, delivering a truly captivating listening experience.
- Advanced monitor control is provided through Apogee’s Control 2 software, offering powerful calibration tools, 8 Apogee Monitor Workflows, and support for two subwoofers. The Symphony Studio Series also includes precise speaker calibration, with Room EQ, Bass Management, and Speaker Delay to fine-tune any listening environment for optimal performance.
- The Symphony Studio Channel Strip provides professional-grade sound shaping with near-zero latency for those looking to enhance their recordings with analog warmth. EQ, compression and saturation are included for precise control over each track.
- The USB-C Class Compliant connectivity ensures seamless integration with both Mac and Windows computers for plug-and-play operation.
